FIRM PROFILE

Brummitt Energy has been a leading energy modeling firm for over 15 years. Our modeling specialists collaborate with owners, developers, designers, and builders to achieve cost-effective and energy-efficient projects. Most of our projects also achieve utility and/or tax incentives. We are proud to be leading the industry towards successful Zero Energy and more resilient projects.

Providing energy guidance from early planning through proof-of-performance for projects of all types, our expert team has extensive knowledge of the increasingly complex energy codes governing every new or remodeled building. We have assisted more than 160 projects across the country to achieve LEED certifications, mostly as Gold or Platinum.

Our proven process quantifies the energy impact of multiple strategies and their interactions, including multiple design options, materials, various equipment choices, and life cycle costs. Our process also often yields construction cost savings while still maintaining lower operating costs.

We assist our clients to make smarter choices as they choose, design, document, and achieve their energy targets and overall project goals.
